

Hello,

It's officially the new year, and you know what that means—resolution time. If you don't believe in making resolutions or don't have any in mind for this year, don't worry. I have plenty for the both of us. This year, I'm with the masses hoping to make 2015 healthier, happier, and more productive.

I figured I'd share some of my findings below in case you missed any of these great TechSmith blog posts and videos.
